Mark Willing

Mark Willing Financial Services are an Independent Financial Advisor covering Devon & Cornwall. Our clients are mainly private individuals and some companies who understand that by seeking our professional advice they can make the most from their money. Our success has been based on three core principles; integrity, professionalism and impartiality, coupled with a creative approach to financial planning and a belief in a bespoke client service. Having previously worked in banking for sixteen years - five of them as a Bank Manager - I moved to Friends Provident in 1994 and then chose to start my own business as an Independent Financial Adviser.

Mark Willing Financial Services was formed in 2002 to provide a professional and personalised wealth management service to clients mainly residing in Devon and Cornwall. The independence enables me to select financial products from the whole market place when constructing my client recommendations.
